Please have your entries for the book fair decoration competition to me by Thursday lunchtime at the latest. Winners will be announced on Tuesday November 18 at the morning assembly. I can’t wait to see what our garden room will look like.

All library books need to start coming back this week so that I can begin the stocktake. Don’t forget the Queanbeyan Library would love to have a visit from you. They have lots of other items besides books that you can borrow too.
